SUPERCO GREEN FLOOR STRIPPER's remarkable deep-penetrating floor stripper is designed to effectively and economically remove stubborn finishes while exhibiting a positive environmental profile. Acrylics, acrylic modified urethanes, low speed, and high or soft finishes: this environmentally preferable formulation tackles them all. Most floor strippers leave alkaline residues that must be neutralized with a low to neutral pH rinse to prevent problems with applying floor finish. With the rinse-free chemistry in this product, time, money and labor are saved. It accomplishes this without the use of "Butyl" or any harmful ethylene series glycol ethers. In addition, the pleasantly scented product is non-ammoniated and therefore easy to work with and around, and contains no staining dyes. Superco's Green Floor stripper may be used with or without a floor machine and pad and has a dilution rate of up to 1:10 with water. See label for usage directions.
